The South Village Community Development District ("District") is a local unit of special-purpose government created and existing pursuant to Chapter 190, Florida Statutes. The District has and, may in the future, finance, fund, plan, establish, acquire, construct or reconstruct, enlarge or extend, equip, operate or maintain certain master improvements for the benefit of the District's residents. The District is governed by a five-member Board of Supervisors that was elected by the residents, to serve for a statutory period of time as set forth in Chapter 190, Florida Statutes.

¹ The Annual Assessment will be reflected as a single line item on the Clay County tax bill, but will include the 2016A Assessments and the Operations & Maintenance Assessments. The Annual Assessment will be collected by Clay County in the same manner as property taxes, except that it will be paid in advance for the Fiscal Year 2017, and every year thereafter.

² This Operation and Maintenance Assessments will be adjusted annually based on the actual operation and maintenance costs to the District. It is used by the District to fund general administrative, recreation, golf, and capital reserve related expenses. This is inclusive of the former "Social Dues." For additional information about the District's budget, please visit www.southvillagecdd.com.

³ Dream Finders Homes, developer of Phase V, has advised Eagle Landing Limited Partnership that it will make a partial payoff of the 2016A Assessment at or before closing on sale of each lot in Phase V in order to reduce the annual 2016A Assessment on the lot from $2,142 to $1,484. If that partial payoff is not made, the full 2016A Assessment of $2,142 will be collected by the CDD on an annual basis.

The District issued Capital Improvement Revenue and Refunding Bonds ("2016A Bonds") to fund master improvements including, but not limited to, the water and sewer facilities, ponds, roadways, entrance features, landscaping, neighborhood parks, as well as the Eagle Landing amenity center & golf course ("Facilities"). The 2016A Bonds are repaid by assessments levied against the lots within the District that benefit from the Facilities ("2016A Assessments").

The District collects Operation and Maintenance Assessments to fund the operation and maintenance of the District's Facilities. The Fiscal Year 2019 Operation and Maintenance Assessment is $1,632, including the 4% early payment discount and the 2% collection fee. Note that discounts for early payment of the tax bill also apply to both the 2016A Assessment and the Operation and Maintenance Assessment as shown in the following example(estimated):

[EXAMPLE TABLE - Phase I - IV]

4% if paid by:	3% if paid by:	2% if paid by:	1% if paid by:
November 30th	December 31st	January 31st	February 28th
$2,979	$3,010	$3,041	$3,072

The amount of the Operation & Maintenance Assessment is reviewed annually and adopted by the Board of Supervisors after a public hearing.

The Eagle Landing at OakLeaf Plantation Homeowners' Association ("HOA") handles the enforcement of the covenants and restrictions and architectural review that preserves the integrity of Eagle Landing. The HOA is separate and distinct from the District and has separate and distinct fees.

The above-information is only a summary of the assessment information for the District. A Disclosure of Public Financing, prepared pursuant to Section 190.009, Florida Statutes, which provides more detailed information regarding the District's assessments, is available at the Eagle Landing Welcome Center (904) 291-7200 and online in the Official Records of Clay County, Florida. IRRIGATION WATER

THE REUSE OF A PRECIOUS RESOURCE

Water is a precious resource, the use of which has been restricted in many areas of the country and Florida during recent years. The developers of Eagle Landing in cooperation with the Florida Department of Environmental Protection, are working to protect it. This is accomplished by reclaiming some of the waste water, cleansing it, and using it to irrigate the golf course and some common areas in the community. While reclaimed water is not treated to be as clean as drinking water, it is clean enough for its primary purpose - irrigation. Research shows that up enough for its primary purpose - irrigation. Research shows that up to fifty percent of the water that flows through meters in some cities is used to maintain grass, so many citizens are using this resource for irrigation.

Reclaimed water is wastewater that is treated to be reused for irrigation. It is filtered and disinfected. Since this treatment must meet stringent guidelines established by the State of Florida, it is safe for irrigation use. It does not, however, meet the same state and federal standards as drinking water. Some nutrients remain in reclaimed water, including: aluminum, chromium, lead, molybdenum, zinc, phosphorus, boron, copper, magnesium, nickel, sodium, calcium, iron, manganese, potassium and nitrogen.

Every home in Eagle Landing is connected to a fresh water system, part of the Clay County Utility Authority, that is used for all household functions including the following:

- Connecting to a dwelling for household use
- · Connecting to another water source
- · Sprinkling gardens
- Filling swimming pools or hot tubs
- Increasing lake or pond levels
- Supplying air conditioning units

In Eagle Landing, the reclaimed water is used only for irrigation purposes. Eagle Landing homes are only connected to the potable or drinking water system. The reclaim water system is completely independent and away from homes. For more information about reclaimed waters, please call (904) 448-4300 or write: The Florida Department of Environmental Protection, Northeast District, 7825 Baymeadows Way, Suite B-200, Jacksonville, Florida 32256. Get An EnergyGauge® Rating!

Congratulations on your decision to purchase a home.

As you know, there are a lot of factors to consider before signing on the dotted line. By now, you've probably checked out the location of the home you like the best. You know how much the seller wants, how many bedrooms there are, whether your dining room table will fit, where you'll park your car and lots of other important things.

But wait, there's still one more important thing you really ought to do.

You wouldn't buy a car without asking how many miles-per-gallon it gets, would you? So why would you even think of buying a house without knowing how much the power bills will be? That's why now is the perfect time to get an EnergyGauge® rating on the house.

Since 1994, there has been a voluntary, statewide energy-efficiency rating system for homes in Florida. Prospective homeowners just like you, all around the state, are getting their homes rated before they make their purchase.

There are several very important reasons why:

- ▲ Energy ratings give homebuyers a market-place yardstick that measures the benefits of energy-efficiency improvements. You get detailed estimates of how much your energy use will cost.
- ▲ Energy ratings give you clear and specific information that lets you compare similar homes on their energy use. Two homes might look similar, but one may be efficient and comfortable, and the other an energy-guzzler with a very uncomfortable interior.
- ▲ Maybe most important of all, the national Home Energy Rating System (HERS) Index on the energy rating can

Consider the Benefits:

- ▲ More Home for Less Money
- ▲ Tested Quality Construction
- ▲ Enhanced Indoor Comfort
- ▲ Superior Energy Efficiency
- ▲ More Environmental Sustainability
- ▲ Improved Mortgage Options
- ▲ Greater Resale Value

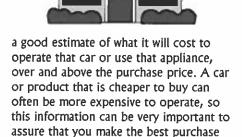

qualify you for a number of special mortgage programs that offer lower interest rates, lower closing costs, and other benefits. More and more lenders are coming into Florida with money-saving packages for buyers of energy-efficient homes.

Before buying your next home, hire a Certified Energy Rater to do a rating.

Your builder or Realtor can help you find a Certified Rater in your area. After the rating, you'll get an easy-to-understand Energy Guide that estimates how much it will cost to pay for energy used in that home; it will allow you to look at a number of separate areas of energy use throughout the house.

For many years, buyers have had home inspectors look over a home before making their purchase. This is a great way to find out about potential house problems before you make your purchase. Smart homebuyers around the country are now also asking for a home energy rating to look specifically at the energy-users in a home and determine their efficiency. Because energy costs can often equal house payments, the relatively small cost of a home energy rating can easily be offset by many years of lower energy payments.

You're already familiar with the miles-per-gallon stickers on new automobiles, and the yellow Energy Guide labels on home appliances. Shoppers use this information to figure out how much that car or appliance is really going to cost them. This information gives the buyer

After the rating, you'll get an easyto read form like the one on the next page. The Rating Guide has a scale that allows you to compare the specific home you're looking at with the most efficient and the least efficient homes of the same size, with the same number of bedrooms available in your part of the state today. In addition to this overall estimate of energy use and comparisons, you get a detailed breakdown on the energy costs of the home's air conditioning, space heating, water heating, refrigerator, clothes dryer, cooking costs, lighting, pool pumping and other miscellaneous equipment.

One of the keys to the success of this program is the uniformity of ratings, made possible by the use of the EnergyGauge* software developed by the Florida Solar Energy Center*. It has been specially designed to let Raters input the key data on the home and obtain accurate information for comparison purposes. A unique optimization feature even lets Raters determine what energy-efficiency features can be added to the home to maximize cost-savings and comfort-improvement.

So how can a home energy rating help you reduce your energy use and save money?

That's easy. While the design and con-struction of your home, and the efficiency of its appliances and equipment, control the most significant portion of its energy use, occupant lifestyle will still have a big effect on exactly how much energy gets used. Your comfort preferences and personal habits - the level at which you set the thermostat, whether or not you turn off lights and fans when leaving a room, how much natural ventilation you use, and other factors - will all affect your home's actual monthly energy use.

Florida's program parallels national activities.

The Residential Energy Services Network (RESNET) sets the national standards for Home Energy Rating System (HERS), and Florida's system
meets these standards. The Florida Building Energy Rating Guide provides a HERS Index for the home. This national score enables homes to qualify for national mortgage financing options requiring a HERS Index. This index is computed in accordance with national guidelines, considering the heating,
cooling, water heating, lighting, appliance, and photovoltaic energy uses.
HERS awards stars to the rating.

Tell your Realtor or builder that you want to get the home rated before you buy it.

They can give you the names of Raters in your area. Additional information on the program is available from the Energy Gauge Program Office at 321-638-1715, or visit our Web site at www.floridaenergycenter.org.

Who does Energy Ratings?

It is important to note that only Florida State Certified Raters are allowed to perform ratings. These Raters have undergone rigorous training programs and have passed the RESNET National Core exam and the required challenge exams: They are also required to undergo continuing education classes and additional exams to keep

Energy Ratings in Florida

The Florida Building Energy-Efficiency Rating Act (Florida Statute 553.990) was passed by the State Legislature in 1993 and amended in 1994. It established a voluntary statewide energy-efficiency rating system for homes. The Rating System has been adopted by DCA Rule 98-60.
